Architecture Bulletin

The journal of the NSW Chapter of the Australian Institute of Architects

About Architecture Bulletin

- Architecture Bulletin is Australia's oldest Architecture serial, having been continuously published since 1944.
- It is published six times a year.

Editorial focus

- Architecture Bulletin debates and records practice and planning issues related to the practice of architecture in New South Wales, through discussion articles by leading members of the profession.
- It also announces, reviews and records activities, events and continuing professional development programs offered by the NSW Chapter of the Australian Institute of Architects.

Who reads Architecture Bulletin?

- Read by more than 10,000 design professionals and students, Architecture Bulletin is mailed to all NSW and ACT members of the Australian Institute of Architects, local councils, planning authorities, libraries, universities, and key related organisations such as engineers and advertisers, and individual subscribers.
